FOREWORD

Pleasant thoughts and happenings with the High School friends and faculty, now seemingly impressed upon the mind will gradually fade and pass.

To bring back and preserve these moments of enjoyment is the sole purpose of this volume of the Vil-Hi-Sca.

VIL-HI-SCA

The school gets the benefit,
The students get the fame,
The printer gets the money,
But the staff, they get the blame.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF '26

"Gee, there's a lot of 'em," and "Don't they look green?" are just samples of the phrases that floated around when in nineteen hundred twenty-two the "class of '26" entered high school. We were willing to learn, large in numbers and of the best quality, so soon the rest of the school began to notice that we might "be green," but we were "growing." Our class sponsors, Mrs. Peckham and Miss Woods helped us into the works of this new life, and the Juniors gave us a party which made us feel almost welcome. All our social good times were successful as well as our athletic enterprises. It was soon found that our class had some of the best athletic material in school and we had a man on first football team. We also took honors in track work.

Our Sophomore year found us back, growing bigger and stronger and more willing than ever to work and learn. During this year several parties were staged, including an all high school party in the armory and a picnic at Corning. This year we grew in strength and fame until everyone began to notice our class. The boys basketball team won the class series and we tied the class of '25 for track honors.

As Juniors we were thrice mighty and we had won recognition from all around. We placed six of the eleven men on the winning football team besides having as many more subs. We placed three of the five basketball men. Also four of the six girls on the Girls' Basketball team. In Declamatory, one of our members took second in the Southwestern Iowa contest. During this year we changed our class colors to black and white and we won a black and white banner for selling the most tickets for football games. We also proved our social ability in the Junior-Senior banquet which we gave in May. Everyone worked hard to make it the success that it was. We also started the ball rolling and put out the first edition of the Vil-Hi-Sca, which was very successful.

As Seniors we are full grown and successful. Our only doubt is "How will V. H. S. get along without us." This year the Sophomores entertained us to a party and we gave them a Kid party in return. We had eight men on the football squad, and we are proud to think we helped this team get all her high honors as a winning team. We are also proud of our all state quarterback. We placed three men on the Boys' basketball team and six girls on the Girls' basketball team. One of our members took first in the District Declamatory Contest and we are well represented in the glee clubs. Under the able supervision of our class teachers, Miss Heindel and Miss Newton, we will graduate the most efficient, original and the best loved class ever graduated from old V. H. S.

JULIAN EBERHART "Soc"
Close your mouth, Soc—we want to see your face.

EVELYN STILL
Still is last but not least with me.

HAZEL BRYANT
She wears not a diamond nor a pearl,
She's just a good all around girl.

ILA COPPACK
She likes a good time,
She's a lovable lass,
We're all very glad
She came into our class.

LESTER DICKINSON "Les"
My hope is high, not a wee bit girl shy.

RUTH LINDELL "Rufus"
'Twas her thinking of others,
That made you think of her.

HAROLD CARLSON "Buggs"
Some say 'tis wrong in courtin'
To court her all the time
But when I go a courtin'
I like her all the time.

HELEN GUSS
If greatness be judged by accomplishments, then she will be famous.
What do you say Carlton?

MARGUERITE HUTCHINSON
I don't care how they spell my name,
I'll change it some day anyway.

LENA ENARSON
A sunny temper gilds the edges of life's darkest clouds.

FREDERICK MCCOY "Bus" Bus has had enough yellow cards to paper the assembly.

DORIS ASHBURN "Dutch"
Life is just one darn dance after another.

VIL-HI-SCA

RUSSEL DEVINE

"Rusty"

Stand strong for the wind bloweth.

ETHEL BASHAW

A blush, a sly smile
From the boys I run a mile? ?

GRACE DEVINE

Silence is devine, but there is a chance for an argument in this instance.

NAOMI DICKINSON

"Sis"

One and one make two
So two would make a pair
Inez never fails so there.

JOHN HYDE

"Johnny"

A mind reader would surely have a flat time trying to tell this boy's fortune.

EDNA HAMMER

That to see her is to love her,
And to know here is a treat.

IRENE FULTON

Paddles her own canoe and does it well.

EULA MORITZ

"Eulie"

I could not love thee, dear so much,
If you owned but a Ford,
But since you drive a Dodge Sedan,
The way I love you—

KENNETH BARNES

"Zeke"

The boy who tried to start the cookoo clock, by putting in birdseed.

LUCILLE KING

Her modest beauty and graceful air,
Show her wise and good as she is fair.

ALETHA KENDRICK

Maybe I can't sing like a canary.
But, I sure got a crow beat.

MARY ROSSANDER

We all think a lot of her—you see, we have a lot to think about.

VIL-HI-SCA

DORAN SWAN "Fat"
There is at least one consolation in being fat—you are immune from falling in manholes.

ISABEL BRENTON "Izzy"
I like cars both great and small,
But a Ford roadster is the best of all.

JESSE BROWN "Jesse"
If you don't believe I mean business
just watch me.
A fine little girl, Eh what, Mike?

WALTER ASKLOF "Walt"
We are not here to dream so I just sit.

MARNICE FINDLEY
Be a friend to me, I'm a friend of yours.

FREDERICK McCOY

EARL MARSH "Jug"
As a dancer, Jug's feet are musical—both flat.

VELORA PETERSON "Pete"
When told she was going to have acute appendicitis, Pete said, "Don't flatter me
Doctor, cut it out."

MABEL WHITE "Bob"
Not very fast, nor yet is she slow
We wonder if she hasn't a beau.

MAX SHIPLEY
I'm a man that's hard to find, for I'm the red hot stepping' kind (??)

EVERETT GLACKEMEYER "Glacky"
That tall boy from the "Leader Store"
Can reach a dish-pan on the top shelf.
He plays B. B. too.

HELEN CORDES
Does she ever wind her tongue up?
If so, we always fail to hear it go.

VIL-HI-SCA

RAYMOND MOORE

Since he's just as nice as he looks, he'll out-do the heroes of story books.

INEZ PORTER

Yes my name is Porter, and every day it seems that I get shorter and shorter.

VESTA FINDLEY

She's so shy and so sweet
And she studies so hard
I know that we all would
Like to claim her grade card

LAURA LEWIS

She's a hard little worker
Has a sweet little smile
With a heart of gold
That's really worth while

RAYMOND WARNE

What a mistake
That he's not a girl
Oh, how we long
For just one curl.

"Coach"

IZOLA FINDLEY

Let no man approach me without just cause.

MARTHA HOLT

She's a good sport—but don't razz 'er about "Razzer."

DONALD THOMASON

"Clown"

A chap who always likes a good joke
And always gives it a hearty laugh.

RUBY ENARSON

She is just the quiet kind whose nature never changes.

DORIS PETERSON

Happy and hilariously she goes on her way. The cheery sort that makes a pessimist forget his troubles.

Needs a good shaken
For he broke one rule,
Not having his picture taken.

"Shiek"

GRACE PETERSON

She's a pretty fast girl, Yep, we think
"three days of grace" would be enough

ELMAN STATON

The boy who set a new record for cold water safety-razor event 32; 1-5 seconds
Yep: he's left us now?

"Goofy"

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

One Monday morning the first of September, 1923, a group of green, gawky Freshmen assembled on the steps of that great institution of learning—Villisca High School. When all collected, we numbered about 65. An hour or so later the upper classmen prepared for the usual opening exercise, the initiation. Straps, laths, and boards were the articles required. The only requirement made of us was that we pull out our shirt tails, and get to moving. Well, we moved. We noted with pleasure that we were not to be humiliated by being marched around the square. Instead, we were lined up and forced to run for a half-mile down the main road, the straps and laths helping us to gather momentum. After running the gauntlet we returned to school a tired, but joyous bunch. It had not been as bad as we had anticipated.

In two or three days, after our eyes, ears and mouths had somewhat closed, we settled, or tried to settle down. After our first week of school the faculty decided we needed some class sponsors. Miss Malloch and Miss Reynolds were elected for these positions. We also elected our class officers, Harold Carlson being made president. The aforesaid Mr. Carlson also received the honor of playing half-back on the high school football team.

As Sophomores we had become accustomed to our surroundings, and even condescended to help initiate the on-coming Freshmen, again. We had a man on the football team, and several others were on the squad. The team went through the season without a defeat. No class fight was staged this year; instead, a field meet was held, and our class showed up well. Our annual class-picnic was enjoyed at Creston.

Our Junior year has been a great year. We have had two men, Carlson and Barnes, on the football team, and several others filled the sub-positions. Barnes also made the basketball team. Carlson, for the third consecutive year, was chosen president of the class. We have given a party for the Freshmen, and they have returned the courtesy. At present, a track and field team is being organized and the outlook is very bright. We are also soon to begin work on the Junior-Senior banquet and under the able direction of Miss Zaelke and Miss Test, we hope to make this event a great success. We are also well represented in both the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs; six of our Juniors have been given leading parts in the operetta. We also have three girls on the G. R. Cabinet.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

It was in the autumn of 1924 that the class of "28" first gathered as a unit. At that time we first entered the high school building. When we tried to walk through the halls we were bumped about by the upper classmen, nevertheless we felt quite important; but alas, no one thought the same as we did. This fact nearly broke our hearts, to be looked down upon after reaching the dignity of Freshmen.

The greatest events of the Freshmen year were our class parties and Freshman picnic.

Our sponsors were Miss Gertrude Test and Miss Reynolds, and for our Sophomore year, Miss Cresap and Miss Kurtz.

As proof of our fame and history we will turn to the textbook V. H. S., the 1928th proposition.

Theorum: If the second is greater than the first, and is greater than the third and fourth, then the second is greater than the first plus the third, plus the fourth.

Given: Four classes of V. H. S. with 278 members.

Prove: Which is the best class in V. H. S.?

Proof: Sophomore is greater than Freshmen (we have two men on first football team, Orville Rains and Leonard Butler, and five on second team).

Sophomore is greater than Juniors (a Sophomore, Ruthella Palmquist, won over them in the Declamatory contest).

Sophomore is greater than Seniors (one of the members was chosen as leading character, and another, one of the main characters, in the Girl Reserves play).

Adding inequalities: Ten Sophomores are greater than Freshmen plus Juniors plus Seniors.

If an average of ten are greater than the rest of V. H. S., what is the rest of the class like? You'll find out next year.

—Lillian Froyd, Florence Maxey.

 V. H. S.

---

Behold this tale I tell to you!
 'Tis old and you ought to know
 It's a story of life in an old high school—
 The one we all loved so.
 Once its halls resounded with pleasure,
 And the thought of each New Year,
 Came down with work and also leisure,
 Its companions were always near.
 Alas! That was long, long, years ago,
 The schoolhouse has now been fixed;
 So it does not look like the one I knew,
 In nineteen hundred twenty-six.

It happened, one day, I wandered there,
 Just to pass my time away;
 I wanted my childhood memories to share,
 And to come back to me that day.
 I opened the door and stepped inside,
 Ah! I did not know—
 That years had gone since I did abide,
 And that they had changed it so.

I climbed the old, old stairs alone,
 So solitary and blue,
 Then my lips escaped a moan—
 I saw no one I knew!
 Strange faces and smiling eyes looked up,
 No one said, "How do you do!"
 I turned away, simply out of luck—
 With me, that school was through.

Back to the world I went again
 With just plain memories of old,
 I suddenly realized it was a dream then
 In those days (now unfortold).
 And now as these words I tell you,
 It seems that I want to say,
 I wish I was back to that old school,
 Back to that high school, today.

—Pauline Beardslee.

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

---

September the seventh, nineteen hundred and twenty-five, a group of green, gawky Freshmen, gathered at the high school. Some of us were anxious for school to take up and some were so afraid, that we were about to give it up as hopeless.

When we filed into the assembly everyone looked and laughed at us, as if we were there only to amuse them.

After we were dismissed the boys were taken out in front of the school house, lined up, and made to run around the square with their shirt tails out. The girls, too, had their share of the initiation. The older girls made them roll their hose and also run around the square, calling, "We are green." Not a very pleasant situation, but all in fun.

When we settled down to work we found our class had been divided into three different groups. One group in the mathematics room, under Miss Reynolds; one in the Latin room, under Miss Newton; and one in the history room, under Miss Stillians. Thus the class of "29" entered high school.

At our first class meeting we elected Earl Edwards for president, Harold Childs for vice-president, Francis Hale for secretary and treasurer. Miss Helen Test and Miss Stillians, class sponsors.

In October the Juniors gave a party in honor of the Freshmen. Everyone enjoyed himself and went home with a light heart, from his first class party in high school.

In athletics our class has done well. We had several boys working out for football, and hope to see them out again next year.

In the basketball class series, we played the Juniors. We were beaten in both games, but the Freshmen girls held the Juniors back till just the last minute and then were defeated. We have one boy playing on the high school team, and we are proud of it.

By September, nineteen hundred and twenty-six we hope to take our places as Sophomores, with even more of the spirit of V. H. S. than we had this year.

—Iva Applequist, Thelma Liken.

COACH WIECHE

Coach Robert H. Wieche came to Villisca High School in the fall of 1922. In his first year he was confronted with the problems of making a team out of a squad of thirteen or fourteen men. The bulk of this squad was Seniors, who took advantage of a new coach and knowing it was a small squad, worked out and made the team. These men were green, not many of them had ever played football before and were lost when they played in a game. Coach Wieche worked hard with them and whipped them into fair shape but had no extra men for them to scrimmage against and consequently they did not know the proper thing to do at the proper time when they were in a game. This squad won two games and lost six.

The next year he had a squad of Freshmen and Sophomores to work with and although they knew no more about the game than the squad of the previous year, were willing to learn and it was this group that developed into the championship teams of 1924 and 1925.

In 1924 football took on new life and at the beginning of the season twenty-eight men reported to Coach Wieche and this was the first time in a good many seasons that so many men came out and he had something to work with. The results are well known. The men either had to work or lose their places on the team and this brought us the championship of Southwestern Iowa. A number of Coach Wieche's men got places on the honorary teams picked at the end of the season, two men making the Council Bluffs Nonpareil's teams and the rest receiving honorable mention. Two or three men were given mention on various all-state teams.

In 1925 about all the 1924 team was back and things did not look at all gloomy. But there were three or four positions on the team that had to be filled and they were positions that were very important, and it depended upon whom Coach Wieche picked to fill them that would make or break the team. Coach Wieche did not have any men who knew enough about football so that he could put them in these positions and run away and think no more about them. He had to hunt them. Well, everyone knows that the men he taught to fill these positions filled them right and were among the best men in these positions in this part of the state. At the end of the season the team was known all over the state for its clean playing and sportsmanship. This was one of Coach Wieche's characteristics which will long be remembered by those who knew him on and off the football field. He is leaving us this year and every one hates to see him go. He is by far the best coach Villisca high school has ever had.

HAROLD COUELL "Peanut"
Tackle

Hail the Captain of the victorious team of 1925! Peanut has played three years and been on two championship teams. He was the very efficient "pilot" of this year's squad and was chosen on third "all state" team.

HAROLD CARLSON "Bugs"
Fullback

Bugs has been a consistent player for the H. S. for three years and has been elected to Captain the 1926 team. We are expecting great things from him.

LYNN KING "Dig"
Quarterback

Star quarterback and second Red Grange, is this little but mighty man. "Dig" was chosen for "all-state" quarterback, and he was high point scorer on Villisca's team. We're expecting you to do great things in college, "Dig".

F O O T B A L L

GLEN BROUNLEE
Tackle

Glen was a mighty good tackle, always got his man and was in every play. We'll venture to say that he and Peanut were the best pair of tacklers in the State. Glen was picked by the Iowa High School Athlete as "All-State" tackle.

RUSSELL SHIFFER "Pook" Right Half

Pook was a very dependable man on the squad, and was especially known for his line plunging.

CLAUDE RICHEY
Left Half

Richey has played football his four years in High School and served the team as captain during his Junior year. This was the beginning of success for Villisca.

He was chosen on second "All-Southwestern" team.

LEON LAUDERS "Mex"

Mex—our efficient end—If you don't believe it, ask Clarinda. He was always a good sport and fought with all his might.

PAUL ANDERSON "Ole"

Ole, our husky center, was always on the job and knew his orders. Ole, has only been out two years for football, but has proved himself a very valuable and capable man.

ELWIN DAY

"Bill"

Bill, our "hard hittin' guard—knew where he was needed, and was always on the job. He received more bloody noses than any man on the team, especially Buggs.

LEONARD BUTLER

"Jake"

Guard

The hardest man in Southwest-ern Iowa, so Shenandoah thinks. A good strong guard and did his share in helping us win. Jake has two more years to play, and we are expecting him to show his "stuff".

ORVILLE RAINS

"Gypes"

End

Gypes has been on the squad two years, and has showed us his playing ability. Go to it, Gypes, you can help put Villisca on the map the next two years. We're expecting big things from you.

KENNETH BARNES

"Zeke"

Zeke was a dependable man, always willing and ready to go into the fight when called upon. He has one more year to show what he is made of.

JOHN PALMQUIST

"Ab"

Ab was always ready and capable to replace any one in the back field. We are sorry he is leaving us this year.

WILLIAM OVITZ

"Bill"

A newcomer from Omaha who started in the beginning of this year. Bill has a real fighting spirit, and we expect to hear more from him next year.

LESTER DICKINSON

"Les"

Les has been on the squad for three years, and altho never making the first team, had the proper fighting spirit and willingness to go wherever he was needed.

DONALD KING

"Goose"

"Goose" is following in his big brother's footsteps and we are expecting great things from him the next two years. It won't be easy, Goose, but you can do it.

MAURICE MCGEE

"Pat"

He has been true to his team for two years. Although not a regular first stringer, he was in a number of games and always played the game.

JOHN SPARGUR

John has been working out on the squad this year, and has two more years to make himself known as a football player.

DARYL SHREAVES

"Shiek"

Shiek showed good spirit and was a regular man out to practice each night. It was his first year on the squad, and he has one more year in which to do his bit.

RAYMOND WARNE

A man with a lot of nerve and grit. He will have another year to display his talents on the grid-iron.

EDWARD REYNOLDS

A man willing and faithful at workouts and always on the job.

DEAN BROWNLEE

Playing his first year in high school football proved himself a very efficient substitute. He will likely take his brother's place on the squad next fall.

LENO LAUDERS

Another playing his first year, should prove a valuable edition to next year's team.

FLOYD MARWICK

A boy with a lot of grit. Has three more years to prove his worth.

MARION FIGGINS "Punkin"

Like the other members of the squad always out to practice taking his share of the knocks to make the season a success.

HAROLD BIXLER

"Bix"

Always out to the workouts and doing his bit to make the season a success. Good natured and always coming back with a smile.

LEE ALFORD

"Pee Wee"

Another Sophomore who was always on the job doing his share. He has two more years to reach the "goal" of football.

HOLLIS NORDYKE

Business Manager. Our very efficient business manager, who saw to it that our team had the right publicity. He knew how to take care of the money of the organization, too.

THE FOOTBALL SEASON

The first game of the season was played with Lewis at Villisca. Lewis had a good team and they also had a good passing attack. This passing attack just fell five yards short of a touchdown, Richey being the reason they did not get one, he nailed the man on Villisca's five-yard line. The game was played on a sultry afternoon and the play was slow and uninteresting. Villisca won the game, 33-0.

Shenandoah was the next game on the schedule. They had been doing quite well and had been winning all their games by safe margins. Shortly after the game started, Richey received a pass from King and made a touchdown. After that it was easy going and Villisca piled up fourteen points while Shenandoah scored a drop kick from Villisca's thirty-yard line, making the score fourteen to three in favor of Villisca at the half. In the last half with second string men in the lineup Villisca ran up thirteen more points; the game ending with the score, Villisca, 27; Shenandoah, 3.

Villisca journeyed to Red Oak for the next game. This game was something of a grudge affair and the old row was settled on the day of this game by a score of 25-0. Red Oak showed signs of life in the first quarter when they had a strong north wind to their backs to aid them. In the second quarter the wind was behind Villisca and between it and lots of punch, two touchdowns were pushed over. In the second half Brownlee broke Boggess' heart when he ran him out of bounds when he had a clear road to a touchdown. In the last half Villisca made two touchdowns.

College Springs was the next game on the schedule and Villisca defeated them, 33-0. The Villisca team did not get to going until the last half when the largest number of the total points were scored. Brownless played good football in this game and blocked two punts and "Dig" King returned a punt for a touchdown, this being the second time he had done it this season. Nearly everyone on the squad got a chance to play in this game.

Minus the service of Captain Cowell, who ran his ribs into someone's knee in the College Springs game, Villisca defeated the green, but willing Hamburg team, 66-0. Hamburg showed lots of fight but could not get going against the more experienced Villisca team.

On Armistice Day, Villisca met Clarinda at Clarinda before a record crowd. The game was a hot one the first half and Clarinda held Villisca to a lone touchdown. During the last half Villisca snapped out of it and scored four touchdowns. One of the big events of the day was when "Buggs" Carlson intercepted a pass and pushed his number twelve forty yards for a touchdown. This game made it two straight over Clarinda and served to relieve the stingy feeling suffered from a long string of defeats that Clarinda has handed Villisca. The final score was Villisca, 32; Clarinda, 0.

Bedford was the next game and it proved to be a walkaway for Villisca. On the first play of the game "Dig" King made a touchdown on a sixty yard run around right end. After that the touchdowns rolled up fast and furious, coming through the line and around the ends and everywhere. The total points were fifty nine for Villisca and three for Bedford. Bedford has the honor of scoring the second field goal and three of the lonely six points scored on Villisca all season.

Corning battled Villisca in one of the best games seen on the Villisca field in the past season, but lost, 34 0. They put up a hard fight, but were outclassed. Villisca's team work, which was a big factor in every game, was present in this game and that is why they won. Corning battled hard in the first half and held Villisca 13-0. In the second half Villisca came back and rolled up twenty one points to win.

TRACK

Track is the sport going on right now and a likely looking group of men are working out every night. Track has not been taken up in the spring here for three or four years because there is no place to work out, but this year with a running track still lacking the boys are going at it. Lynn King has been elected track captain. The team will take in four or five track meets the first meet will be the Elliott meet at Elliott, May 1, and after that will come the one at Atlantic, May 8.

VIL-HI-SCA

CLAUDE RICHEY

Captain and Running Guard

Richey played hard steady ball in every game and never stopped fighting until the final gun. He takes great delight in holding down high point men on the other team and if they get a basket while he is around they consider themselves lucky. Richey has just completed his last year in high school basketball.

LYNN KING

Forward

"Dig" was the high point man on Villisca's team this season. He can sink the ball from any position on the floor and it takes a mighty good man to hold him down. He was one of the best forwards in the Sectional Tournament held at the Armory. This is his last year and his place will be hard to fill.

DONALD KING

Forward

"Goose" in his first year of basketball did well, considering his size and the burly men he had to play against. He should make a good man in the remaining years he has to play.

PAUL ANDERSON

Center

"Ole" is a little boy who is a little over six feet tall and plays center. He plays a hard bang up game of basketball and is never beaten until the whistle blows. This is his last year and he will be sorely missed when the next basketball season rolls around.

KENNETH BARNES

Standing Guard

"Zeke" plays a steady game at back guard and makes it very unhandy for the opposition when they come flitting down the floor his direction to try to sack one. He will be one of the two men the team will be built around next year.

JOHN PALMQUIST

Forward

"Ab" could make 'em from every angle on the floor and in any position. He is one of the fastest dribblers in school. He is leaving us this year never to return, but we will remember him, he did his bit. When he got into a game you might as well count it won because he is unstoppable.

VIL-HI-SCA

---

LESTER DICKENSON Running Guard

"Mutt" has one of those "Never say Die" spirits you read about and he made it merry for the opposition when he got into the game. He should make a good man next year.

EVERETT GLACKEMEYER Center

"Eve" is one of those long boys that it takes to play basketball and he mixes game all up when he gets into it. He has one more year left and should make a good man for the team next year.

EARL EDWARDS Standing Guard

Edwards is a freshman and he is the only one of them to get into battle on the basketball team. He had three more years left to play and with what he learned this year should make a good man.

WILLIS DEAN Guard

"Willie" is one of those big boys who gets the other fellow before he has a chance to do anything. This is his first year in basketball and he did his share in making the season a success.

THE BASKETBALL SEASON

The season opened with a victory over Nodaway at Nodaway by a 36-8 score. This game was closely contested the first half, which ended with Villisca in the lead, 10-6, but in the last half the team found themselves and won the game by a good margin.

Stanton was the next team to meet Villisca and this game was played on the Armory floor. Villisca was not going good that night and Stanton was playing good basketball all the time and so the Swedes won a hard-fought battle by a 21-18 score.

In the next game with Clarinda Junior College the team showed better form than they had at any time in the season. Villisca scored the first two baskets of the game, but the Junior College tied it up and went into a lead which they lost and regained several times during the contest. In the last quarter Villisca piled up a four-point lead and it looked as though they could let Clarinda have a basket, but still win the game. The Junior College flashed some team work in these last minutes and caged two baskets and tied the score. With fifty seconds left to go, the Junior College back guard had the ball passed to him in the middle of the floor and he threaded up through the Villisca team and made a "pidgeon" from under the basket that gave them the points that won the game, 22-20.

Nodaway visited the Armory on the following Tuesday and was walked on by a score of 48-10. The Nodaway boys could not get going on the large floor and this was the chief reason that they could not score freely from the floor.

Corning came over and defeated Villisca for the first time in three years by a score of 23-15. Corning had good team work and took the ball down the floor consistently and one of their men was so hot he couldn't miss and that was the chief reason for their victory.

Villisca met Red Oak at Red Oak and nosed them out on their small floor by a score of 26-21. Red Oak played good basketball that night and had a basket hanger that played hide and seek with Villisca's back guard and he rolled them over the edge of the hoop all evening and it was this little piece of work that made the score so close.

Shenandoah had one of the best teams seen on Villisca's floor this season. They took the ball down the floor well and had two or three men who were good basket shots. The Villisca team played well and Shenandoah did not walk on them like most of the "Thomases" had thought they would and when the game ended Shenandoah had the long end of a 28-21 score.

The following night Villisca journeyed to Stanton and before a large crowd, drubbed them by a 26-16 score. This was sweet revenge for the Villisca team and their backers and it did everyone a great deal of good. The first half was a see-saw affair and Stanton held a one point advantage at half time, the score being 12-11. In the 1st half Villisca came back strong and at the end of the play had the long end of the score.

Red Oak visited Villisca the following Friday and was buried under a 45-10 score. The basket hanger mentioned in the preceding chapter on the Red Oak-Villisca game at Red Oak did not go well and the Red Oak men did not get a decent shot the whole game.

Red Oak Junior College was the next visitor on the Armory floor. This game was a walkaway from the start, Villisca never being pushed to win. At the half the score was 17-0 in favor of Villisca, and it looked as if the man who sunk a basket for the Red Oak boys would be a hero because he saved them from being skunked, but they came back and piled up thirteen while Villisca set their count up to thirty-eight. The game ended with the score, Villisca, 38; Red Oak J. C., 13.

The next game Villisca played was in the sectional tournament at the Armory. Villisca drew Clarinda for the first game and met a defeat by the score of 19-24. Villisca matched Clarinda point for point until the last three minutes of the game when a free throw and two field goals shoved Clarinda out into the lead to win. Ole Anderson showed what he was made of when he played through this game with a bad ankle, which was taped up to allow him to play.

Coach Wieche had many things to contend with all through the season, but nevertheless he turned out a good basketball team which won six games and lost five during the season.

GIRL'S BASKETBALL

---

The Villisca girls played their first game of the basketball season at Nodaway, December 22. They were beaten by a score of 42 to 17. In the return game they more than redeemed themselves by playing a tie game, 21 to 21. Our old enemy from Adams County at last won from us.

Stanton won two games from us, but we won two games from Clarinda Junior College.

Six of the regular squad will graduate this May, and it will be a difficult job to fill their places.

Vada Huss, the captain, was allotted a place on the Stanton Tournament team.

Although the scores have been against us, the team has had a thoroughly satisfactory season.

Again the Y. W. C. A. of Villisca High School has one hundred per cent enrollment, of which very few schools have that record.

The Cabinet has worked very well and satisfactorily together with their sponsors, and have arranged many interesting features throughout the year. During second semester a very clever play, "Miss Somebody Else," was given for the benefit of the Y. W. C. A.

Many interesting programs have been given every two weeks on Wednesday night, and a very good crowd attended.

The purpose of the Y. W. C. A. is to bring the girls into closer friendship with one another, also to bring them into closer knowledge with God.

This four act comedy told the story of the visit of a young heiress to a country town where she saved a friend's club house from financial ruin by managing the business herself, which was put forth in a very clever manner. Vaudeville between acts kept the large and attentive audience in a happy mood.

Those taking part in the clever performances were as follows:

Dancing act and singing of present popular airs—Earl Marsh, Verna Fengel, Beulah Jeffers, Prudence Atwood, Doris Ashburn, Julian Eberhart.

Joke Hits—Harold Cowell and William Ovitz.

Old-fashioned Girls—Hortense Holland, Kathryn Wendling, Lillie West, Dorothy Goldsberry, Dorothy Peterson, Pauline Johnson.

The accompaniments were played by Winifred Ewing.

The proceeds of the evening amounted to $125, which will be used to carry on the local and foreign work of the Girl Reserves.

BOYS' GLEE CLUB

This Glee Club, composed of "A" and "B" divisions, meet once every week with their instructor, Miss Johnson, and have done exceptionally fine work this season.

They have a Boys' Quartet, although never appearing before the public, we hope to hear them before the close of the school year, composed of: Clifford Brewster, William Ovitz, Hollis Nordyke and Clark Fengel.

The boys are also assisting the Girls' Glee Club on the operetta to be given April 23, 1926.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

This Glee Club is composed of three divisions, "A," "B," and Freshman Girls' Chorus. They meet every week with their director, Miss Johnson, and have done very good work this season.

The "A" division sang at the Declamatory contest and have sung in Chapel two times during the year. This Glee Club has a quartet composed of Verna Fenegl, Erma Edwards, Velora Peterson, and Lillian Williams, who have performed before the public very admirably.

This Glee Club is now putting forth every effort to make this operetta, "Pickles," a great success of the season.

Synopsis

Jonas H. Pennington, an American millionaire pickle manufacturer, with his daughter, June, arrives in Vienna amidst preparations for the annual carnival. To his consternation he finds Jones, his advertising expert, advertising Pennington's Peter Piper Pickles too well. An old acquaintance, Lady Vivian, a wealthy English woman, also arrives on her annual quest in search of her daughter, who was lost near Vienna at carnival time when a baby. Kinski, the pompous police chief, plots to substitute the lost child of Lady Vivian and marry her for the fortune.

A band of gypsies visits the carnival led by Jigo, the chieftain, and his supposed daughter, Ilona. Events lead all to the gypsy camp, where a magic pool reveals the face of Lady Vivian's daughter. So Ilona is restored to her mother, who becomes Mrs. Pennington, and Jones is rewarded with success in his campaign for the hand of Ilona, while Arthur Crefont wins the hand of June Pennington.

THE JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

The Junior-Senior Banquet for the Class of '25 was held May 1st in the Presbyterian Church basement with the Presbyterian ladies officiating.

Black and white were the most outstanding colors, but the lavender, blue, rose, and orange candles, and sweet peas completed the color scheme. The silhouette idea was carried out in detail, with the forms of lads and lasses of former days reappearing on the walls.

Eight Freshman boys and the same number of Sophomore girls waited tables, with Leon Landers as head waiter.

A very interesting toast program was carried out, Kathryn Wendling acting as toastmistress, the subject of the toasts being, "Ye Seniors in Silhouette."

The favors consisted of small, gold-tipped, chocolate cigarettes for the boys and silhouette fans for the girls.

For the program a small play was presented by a most unusual amateur cast. Also a movie of the members of the Senior class in silhouette was shown. This proved most enjoyable.

play the father. Smith tells the family that they must earn their own living. They move out to the old King home in the country.

Humorous situations arise from the noble efforts of the entire family to make good. A love story runs through the play between Eva, King's younger daughter, and Lord Andrew Gordon. King returns unexpectedly and finds an entirely different family from the one he left a few months before. The characters are all interesting and likeable. Smith is popular throughout and when his struggle with Eva culminates in a romance the audience is delighted.

SOPHOMORE-SENIOR

Toot, toot, all aboard, and the Sophomores start out the good times with a rousing, peppy party in honor of the Seniors.

They were very patriotic all of a sudden and the gym blossomed out in red, white and blue. Everybody waved a little flag program to find his or her partner. Then the fun started and didn't stop until we sang, "Good Night, Ladies."

We are all certain the Sophomores are going to have some famous actors among their class as they demonstrated in their stunts that evening. Everyone learned "How to make love with the alphabet," and how to look in all four directions before you cross a railroad track.

There must have been something catching in the date pudding that was served, for a regular epidemic of dates broke out after the party. They were like the measles, all kinds, and a lot of kinds. —M. D.

JUNIOR-FRESHMAN

"Now, you Freshies must come to the Hallowe'en Party on October ninth," were the pass words of the Junior class that week, and, as the Juniors and Freshies are usually obedient, one hundred and ten responded. As each one entered they were given a little yellow pumpkin program which gave them the entire directions for the evening. Upon receiving these, we were directed to the assembly, and there Edna Hammer and her six or seven famous children presented a play which was very amusing. Afterwards party games were played and "Find Your Match" was the method used in finding partners for the refreshments, which were adapted to that time of year. Then came the farewell yells, and every one reported a fine time.

FRESHMAN-JUNIOR

On March the eighth at one fifteen,
 The Junior class was asked to convene.
 We met in the old North English room
 And surely heard something that made quite a boom.
 Earl Edwards invited the Junior bunch
 To a party that night and they'd serve us a lunch.
 The gym would be decorated in colors so bright,
 To honor the guests who came that night.
 Buggs Carlson was there in uniform grand,

Swinging the girls around by one hand,
 Mary was there with Chunky so dear,
 And Wini and Elmer without any fear.
 And at last but not least came Bill Ovitz and Zoe,
 But the rest of the bunch was there for the show.
 Games were played and refreshments were eaten,
 And we voted the Freshies hard to be beaten.

DECLAMATORY CONTEST

The preliminaries for the three classes, Oratorical, Dramatic and Humorous, were held in the high school auditorium on December first and second. Four were chosen from these classes to speak in the high school auditorium on December 10, 1925. Those competing were:

ORATORICAL

"True Neighbors".....Julia Johnson
 "The Great Ideal".....William Lincoln

DRAMATIC

"Mercedes".....Minnie Cozad
 "The Christus".....Mildred Dow
 "Snakes the Soldier".....Velnora Peterson
 "Bobby Shaftoe".....Margaret Winter

HUMOROUS

"A Girl's Experience".....Pauline Beardslee
 "The Wedding of Miss Bray".....Erma Edwards
 "Jane".....Catharine Negley
 "Aunt Eleanore's Hero".....Ruthella Palmquist

Those winning were as follows:

Oratorical—William Lincoln, first; Julia Johnson, second.

Dramatics—Minnie Cozad, first; Mildred Dow, second.

Humorous—Ruthella Palmquist, first; Catherine Negley and Erma Edwards tied for second.

The winners in this contest represented Villisca in the contest held at Stanton on February 26, 1926. Minnie Cozad won first place there in dramatic and later on she entered the sub-district contest held at Bedford, but there she failed to receive an honor. But we all feel proud of the honor that she has brought to V. H. S.

“JOLLY JUBILEE”

The “Jolly Jubilee” was the name of the carnival held at the high school on March 19th.

The Junior class put it on for the benefit of the annual, Vil-Hi-Sca.

The “Minstrel Show,” which was given in the assembly, was the main feature. Clark F., Clifford Brewster and Hollis N. were some of the “Young Negro Men.” Mildred Dow took the part of the “Old Negro Mammy.” Betty Stillians was the little pickanenny. Verna F. and Velora Peterson were the small girls; Bill Ovitz and Marion B. having the comedian parts.

Next came the “Folly Girls.” They were up to the minute in their dances and latest songs. They were one of the main “hits” on the program. The personnel of the Folly Girls was as follows: Isabel B., Helen Guss, Namoni D., Inez P., and Mary Richey.

Of course, as at every carnival there were the “Mystery House,” plays, booths of all kind and sorts.

Also there was the “Old Time Saloon,” where they sold “Home Brew” (pop, candy and gum) with the cowgirls in charge, Grace Devine, Hazel Bryant and Ethel B., and Darwin Dunn, the “cruel manager.”

Then came the “Modern Fortune Telling Room,” which was in charge of Doris P. Coming. In this room was a relief from the noise and “jam” of the crowd. Rugs were on the floor and large chairs gave ease to the one having his fortune told. Candles and flowers helped to make the room mystic-like.

The “Tea Room” was another special feature of the program. It was decorated in blue and white. Trim little waitresses served a variety of delicious concoctions.

In the gym a new and different attraction reigned. It was a shooting gallery and bowling alley. After having been in the tea room, everyone had to stop and see what good shots they were, finding that they were better shots than if they had not gone to the tea room.

Quantities of many colored confetti filled the air and carpeted the floors, adding infinitely to the spirit of the Jubilee. Bright paper streamers floated from booths and stands; students in costumes flitted hither and thither; messenger boys paged people all over the building, delivering important messages from the telegraph station in the superintendent's office.

Everyone came to have a joyous and interesting evening and they had it—thanks to the efforts and strenuous labors of the members of the Junior class and to the various other members of the student body who lent a helping hand to make the event one of the bright and shining lights of the season.

It is unanimously conceded that the Junior class worked hard and faithfully and that they merited the success accorded them at the end of the delightful evening when the lights were turned out and the crowd went peacefully and happily homeward.

CLOUDY

It was a bitterly cold day in the middle of January. The wind shrieked and howled about the buildings of Bob Burnett's little ranch, and driving snow stung and pierced like millions of needles. It seemed that the storm king realized that he had but a few more weeks to reign, and was determined to make the best of the opportunity which was his. The sun was completely hidden by the lowering gray clouds, and daylight was but a gray pall over the landscape.

On such a day was Cloudy born and because he was born on such a stormy day, Bob Burnett named him Cloudy. His earliest memory was of a warm nest in the hay, and of snuggling close against his mother's warm body. Next he remembered a gentle hand stroking him, and a voice that he grew to know and love, was speaking.

Cloudy became Bob's inseparable companion. From the time he was able to stagger about on his wobbly puppy legs he was at Bob's heels continually. When Bob was away from home, Cloudy sat by the gate, with his eyes glued on the road, completely lost without his master.

As he grew older, Cloudy began to live up to his name. He was still Bob's companion, but he lost some of his puppy effusiveness, and, save for the fact that he still kept close to Bob, he displayed his affection less. He became grim and dignified, and made friends with no one. His only animal friend was Gypsy Prince, Bob's matchless, coal-black gelding. Horse and dog shared the same stall at night, and romped together during those rare moments that Cloudy would display playfulness at all.

When Cloudy was a year old, young Captain Mace came to hunt in the mountains above the ranch. He was a friend of Bob's, and when not in the saddle he was with Bob at the ranch.

Both men were about the same age, but it was the law of opposites that marked them for friends. Bob was tall, slender, blue-eyed, gay, yet with a touch of seriousness; Mace was heavy, dark, sombre and moody.

Cloudy disliked Mace from the start, and no amount of coaxing from Bob could induce him to show the least sign of friendship. And Mace gradually grew to dislike Cloudy, until it came to the point where man and dog waited only for some provocative to tear and kill.

In the spring when Cloudy was two years old, Bob closed up his house, left Cloudy and Gypsy Prince in the care of a neighbor, and went away.

"I'm going to go get somebody for you to protect, Cloudy," he said, as he prepared to take his leave. "We won't be lonesome any more after I come back, old boy."

It was toward the last of June when he returned, and he did not come back alone. With him came his bride, a beautiful girl, just past nineteen, blue-eyed, fair-haired and lovable. They arrived about noon, and, as usual, Cloudy sat by the gate, waiting patiently. When Bob sprang out of his car, Cloudy almost knocked him over in his delight.

"Old son-of-a-gun," said Bob, patting the dog affectionately, "missed me, haven't you? This is Cloudy, Leona. Look here, old boy, here's somebody for you to take care of. I told you I'd have somebody for you to protect."

Leona bent, and laid a shapely white hand on Cloudy's head. Their eyes met, and from that moment on, Cloudy held Leona second only to Bob in his faithful heart, never forgetting the trust that his master placed in him. When Bob left the house, Cloudy never left his young mistress' side until he returned. So Bob went about his work without anxiety, positive that no harm could befall his wife.

About the middle of the following August, Captain Mace came once more to the ranch, and for the first time he saw Leona Burnett. Her beauty fascinated him, and her quiet aloofness and fidelity to her husband aggravated and exasperated him. His manner toward Leona roused suspicion in Cloudy's mind, and he kept even closer to the young wife's side.

Cloudy experienced some measure of relief when Mace finally left. He devoted more time to his master, and felt free to romp occasionally with Gypsy Prince.

December came, and with it, biting cold and driving snow, one day, after a particularly hard stretch of work, Bob came in, his body sweating, but his hands and feet as cold as ice. For the first time in her life, terror entered Leona's soul, as she watched the dreaded scourge, pneumonia, fasten its deadly grip upon her husband. She united with the doctor in a desperate fight for Bob's life, but it was of no avail. Cloudy shared her fear, and refused to leave the sick room unless forced.

Four days this continued. On the morning of the fifth day, Bob pillowed his head on Leona's breast, and his labored breathing ceased.

After the first shock of grief had passed, Leona settled down to the quiet routine of ranch management. Cloudy never left her side. He no longer shared the Prince's stall at night, but lay, a quiet, shadowy sentinel, at Leona's door. At first, he could not be consoled in his grief, but gradually, he filled the place Bob had held in his heart with worship of his beautiful mistress.

The following June, Captain Mace came again to the ranch. For the sake of her dead husband, Leona welcomed him, though she would have preferred that he stay away. Cloudy resented the soldier's presence, and watched him with a sullen grinness that Leona grew to fear.

On the afternoon of the third day of his visit Mace returned to the house to find Leona reclining in the hammock on the veranda, for once with no Cloudy at her side.

"I'm wondering, Leona," he began, halting at her side, "if you know why I came out here?"

"I do not," the young woman stated flatly.

"Shall I tell you?"

"As you please," coldly.

"I came for you, dear!"

Leona sprang to her feet, a crimson tide of wrath staining throat and cheeks and brow; Mace's arm shot out, and he crushed her against him, forcing the same instant; with a savage snarl, Cloudy launched himself from the doorway. Mace went down with those great fangs at his throat, and Cloudy made his first kill.

A SOUTHERN ROMANCE

---

"Now, Mirandy, don't yo' spose that that Chile just looks like she always did?"

"Yas'm, I do, but don't yo' spose that that train should be comin' now?"

"Yas, and here it is, and jus look at that girl, and I bet that it's my darlin' Anna Newton."

"Oh, my precious darlin', come to your old mammy," said Jane, the negro servant of the late deceased Mrs. Jones, to whose estate Anna had become heir.

The mammy had ordered that a taxi be hired to take the girl, who was the most precious to them on earth, to her new home. The taxi had arrived and the three friends were riding through the busy streets of West Hampton.

They soon arrived at the lovely mansion, possibly the loveliest and oldest house in West Hampton. The house was filled with beautiful furniture, which had been so highly polished by the servants that it could be used as a mirror. The house was of snow white color and over the front porch was lattice work covered with clinging vines, which made it very attractive.

Anna was delighted with the first look at her new home, and was happy and peaceful during the summer months, until at the first of November, a stranger came to the door and knocked.

"Mirandy, Mirandy," called Anna, "will you please go to the door?"

"Yas'm," answered Mirandy, who was always eager to do anything for her "sugar-lump."

Mirandy hastened to the door, opened it, and to her surprise, beheld a young man, about thirty years of age, with coal black hair, snappy black eyes, and dressed in a dark brown suit.

"Is Miss Anna Newton in?" asked the stranger, in a stentorian voice.

"Yas, sir, and do yo wish to speak to her?"

"If you please," replied the courteous young man.

Mirandy shut the door and hurried to call Miss Anna.

"Anna, Anna, a stranger to see you, Miss."

"Please, show him in," answered Anna, "and I shall be right down."

Mirandy went to the door and ushered the young gentleman in to the hall, from where Miss Anna could be heard at a distance with her silk dress rustling, as she whizzed along.

"How do you do, Miss Newton," said the stranger, in a very excited way, his excitement being caused at the sight of such a beautiful girl.

"How do you do," replied Anna, very politely.

"Why, you see I am Robert Jones, a nephew of the late departed Mrs. Jones, and I claim half the estate, and I shall prove my claim," said the Mr. Jones, pulling out a sheet of paper, slightly soiled with finger prints, and yellow with age:

+-----+ VIL-HI-SCA +-----+

"You, Robert Jones, shall fall heir to one-half my estate of West Hampton, and the other half belongs to Miss Anna Newton, a very dear friend of mine, and I wish that someday she may be your wife.

"Lovingly your aunt,

"Mrs. Henry Jones."

Anna read the note, with great interest, and her face showed uneasiness after having read it, she looked up and said:

"Mr. Jones, I do not understand, for Mrs. Jones told me that you had golden hair and blue eyes."

"Oh, er, well you see I dyed my hair, because it got dirty so quickly, and my eyes, well you see her eye-sight was getting bad, and she just thought they were blue."

"Oh, I see, but I wish to speak to Mirandy, if you will please excuse me."

"Certain, but I must leave now, and I will return tomorrow evening, so good night."

The next evening found the Robert Jones back again. It also found Mirandy in the room with him and Anna—this, by request of the young girl.

"Well, Miss Anna," asked the young man, who looked even more beautiful and charming, "do you still believe I am not Robert Jones?"

"I do," replied Miss Anna, more firm this time than ever, "and so does Mirandy."

"And so does Mirandy," repeated Robert, "well if you think I am not possibly some day you will find out for sure."

"Why, what makes you say that?"

"Time will tell, but I must be leaving."

A ring on the door-bell, sounded in every part of the house, and Mirandy hurried to the door, only to find another young man inquiring for Miss Anna.

The old negress ushered him into the room where Miss Anna and Robert Jones were sitting, and she thought all the while, how much he resembled the real Robert Jones and that the other must be an imposter. She seated herself in an obscure place, as a help to Miss Anna in the interview.

"Why, how do you do, Miss Anna, I'm your old friend, the nephew of Mrs. Jones, and if here isn't my old pal, Robert Smith," rushing over to shake hands with him, "we had great times in the war, didn't we?"

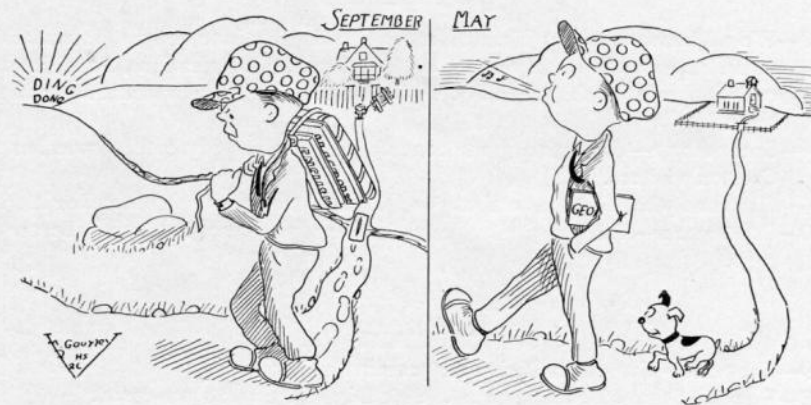

"Yes, nodded Robert Jones, the imposter, but I have important business and I must be leaving, I'll see you some other day."

Miss Anna, left in bewilderment, after the Robert Jones' hurried departure, asked, "Please, explain why your friend Robert Smith came to me and said he was Robert Jones, and claimed half the estate?"

"Well, you see, Anna, it's just this way, Bob Smith and I were great pals, but while I was in the hospital, I lost these papers; I suspected him all the time, but never could get them. However, I don't suppose you want to give up half the estate, do you?"

"Why—why, I wouldn't object to sharing half my estate with you."

Miss Newton—See here, George, just because you have big feet is no reason to think you have a good standing in my class.

Boots Osborn (to Miss Cresap)—Make Doris Peterson quit blowing down my neck! I'll catch cold.

Dig—I can't make my eight o'clock.
Ole—Ah, a good sailor.
Dig—Meaning?
Ole—A first class skipper.

She was only a garbage man's daughter; that's why I'm in the dump.

THE FIRST GRADE LESSON

First grade lessons, if rightly taught usually remain in our memories through life.

So also do the lessons which have been taught us early in life about saving money. Money saved is money earned, but money that is not saved, in part at least, may as well have never been earned.

A High School education is very important and much valuable knowledge may be gained in the course of four years, but no lesson taught there will be more important than the one recited above.

Miss Stillians came in fifth period assembly, rang the bell and said, "Now I want everyone of you to get in your own places and get to work." And Miss Zaelke looked at her rather stupified and said, "Why, this is my assembly." And Miss Stillians turned every color of the rainbow and made a graceful exist. We wonder what kind she drinks.

"Oh! I sure hope he pays it," chimed in Bobby.

"Well, come on, father, we will have dinner."

All this time Bobby was paying close attention to what was being said about Christmas dinner and he kept thinking about it for several days, wondering if Sam Brown would pay the money that he owed.

When December 23rd arrived, father came walking in at noon very briskly, and, in a happy tone, said:

"Well, folks, I guess we'll have turkey for Christmas dinner alright, Sam paid me this morning, and I've ordered a turkey."

"Oh!" shouted Bobby, running to his father and reaching out his chubby little arms, "I'm awful, awful glad."

A smile came over Mrs. Jones' face, for now her troubles were partly over.

The next day was full of excitement for little Bobby as the company would be there at 4 o'clock.

At three o'clock Bobby was dressed and getting his orders for the evening.

"Now, Bobby," said his mother, "you must say, 'please,' at the table, and say 'yes'm' and 'no'm,' 'yes, sir,' and 'no, sir,' and above all don't tell everything and talk all the time."

He answered "Alright, mamma, I'll try." But this was only reminding him of some incidents he might tell.

At last four o'clock came, and Bobby was growing excited, while Mrs. Jones was becoming more worried. Soon Mr. Jones was seen walking up the street with a young couple. Bobby climbed up into a chair, as his mother wished just as the trio entered the door.

Mrs. Jones opened the door and smiled down upon them, saying:

"Oh! you young folks look so happy, and—"

George interrupted, "Sis, meet my wife, Marie."

"Why, how do you do and many congratulations to you."

"Where's Bobby?" inquired George.

Bobby exclaimed, "I'm in this chair, where my ma told me to be, can't you see?"

"My but you are growing. Bobby, this is your Aunt Marie."

Bobby jumped down from the chair and exclaimed, "Say, do you know Santa is coming tonight? Are you going to hang up your stocking, Uncle George?"

"Yes, I suppose—I suppose so," agreed Uncle George, with a smile.

They all sat down and began talking, and little Bobby was very still, so still that his parents thought that he was sick.

Soon Mrs. Jones said, "Will you please excuse me, as I have to go to the kitchen."

As soon as Mrs. Jones left, Bobby came very quietly over to his aunt, and commenced.

"Do you know that we're going to have turkey tomorrow, and that we
