SENIORS IN "TIGER HOUSE" PLAY TO PACKED HOUSE

Mystery Causes Many Screams

"Tiger House" presented by the seniors at the Rialto Theatre, on Thursday evening, May 25, drew a full house.

"Tiger House" was a mystery comedy in three acts by Robert St. Clair. This play has been presented in many outstanding colleges and has always been acclaimed as a decided success. Those who saw it Thursday night were in hysterics one minute and bursts of laughter and screams of fright the next.

The characters were: Erma Lowrie—Luella Swanson, the typical heroine who is young, lovely, frank, and appealing.

Aunt Sophia—Ruth Peters, a genial, good natured and generally cheerful woman who is very superstitious.

Mrs. Murdock—Mary Henderson, a superstitious, taciturn and grim Scotch woman.

Peggy Van Neww—Kathleen Cordes, a modern girl, very talkative and a bit dumb, boy conscious, too.

The Mystery Woman—Audrea Larson, the mysterious woman who knew all, but told nothing.

Yami—Jimmie Johnson, a Hindu who told fortunes and whose presence was constantly dominating the play.

Oswald Kerins—Donald Osborn, a young man of unprepossing appearance. He lived in a world of his own among his specimens.

Thompson—Tom Focht, a sinister character who was rough, uncultured, sharp and brusque. (Continued on Page Two)

Seniors Given Dare At Baccalaureate Service By The Rev. Mortenson

In cap and gown the forty-four seniors of V. H. S. followed by the high school faculty took their places for the Baccalaureate sermon at the Presbyterian church, Sunday evening, May 21, at eight o'clock.

The class had asked the Rev. Arthur Mortenson to deliver the sermon. He chose to speak on the subject, "I Dare You." His message was a challenge to the graduates to accomplish the most in life.

EDITORIALS

Once again a class is departing from our high school, and not without a little question as to what it all means. What will they do or can they do now that they are through?

The best answer to this is live. Reach to the highest thing above you, explore the greatest depth within you, and make your life the fullest that you can for only as we grow may we help those around us.

It matters little where you go or what you do if you always do your best. In all things have a purpose and always work toward your goal. Alice Cary has expressed our thoughts well, "True worth is in being, not seeming."

The Special Function of The School in Our New Industrial Age

What shall be said of the special functions of the school in our new Industrial Age? What do economic conditions require in the way of sound advice for youth in his present outlook? There are many ways being suggested today of how we can come out of our social crisis and to me there is only one answer and that is through education.

A generation ago only a few went on to secondary schools—now we want all boys and girls to be in high school. From the first grade to the graduate our school systems exhibit a hospitality to every form of interest. Our faith in education has become similar to our faith in religion. In the last few years there has been a nationwide increase in the number of students in school due partly to the fact that a great many youth were unable to get jobs. The urbanization of the population has also increased the enrollment of our schools and has created demands that were formerly met in the home. This fact, that more students are going to school, is going to help the nation as a whole toward working out of this crisis if we teach them what is wrong with our present economic system. We are being shown facts every day that the depression is breaking down the morale of millions of American children. Set before young people the things worth doing, the things which have an inherent appeal, and you get work. Through the doing of work under guidance you train students to do work better, to concentrate on their work, and to be absorbed in it. The end of education is accomplished not merely by making pupils work but by making them want to work.

The school should emphasize the making of a living with all that it implies rather than the acquiring of material wealth. Making a living involves something more than the mere satisfaction of the necessities of life. It involves the whole functioning of the individual in his entire social situation. Our school environment should be such that when the student passes from school out into life he will carry what he had gained with him.

Guest Editor—Mr. Armstrong.

OUR APPRECIATION

When I review this year's work on the staff, I realize how largely the success of the paper is due to the support of each one connected with it.

Miss Ochs, our sponsor, deserves much credit for her guidance and overseeing, which has made our issues possible. My thanks also go to the assistant editors and proof readers who have helped so much outside of school. Our entire reporting staff deserves a hand for their cooperation.

Our business staff has been very faithful and has worked especially well on this final edition of our paper. They have made this publication possible. We all wish to extend our gratitude to Miss Steeves and her typing class who have typed and run off all but this edition of the "Volcano."

Arthur Hale—Clarence McIntosh, a good-looking young man with a pleasing personality who insured much self-pity because of a physical handicap. He was devoted to Erma who did not return his affection.

McGuire—Wayne Smith, a rugged husky, handsome young fellow. He scoffed at the supernatural, a trick to find a logical motive for the strange happenings in the house.

Each character and Miss Larson, the director, deserves a great deal of credit for producing such an excellent performance.

Dunn; vice president, Mr. Neal Gray; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Bonnie Roth. Mr. Collis Moore was elected "Alumni Mascot" by the seniors.

After the program refreshments of cake and ice cream were served. Dancing in the gymnasium was then enjoyed.

Girl Reserves Hold Annual Senior Farewell and Installation of Officers

Girl Reserve Senior Farewell and Installation of Officers was held Thursday night, May 11, in the high school assembly. This was a very lovely and very impressive ceremony. The installation was a candle light service.

The girls sang songs until dark, and then the old and new cabinet members filed onto the stage for the installation procedure. Following are the officers and the new and old cabinet members: Luella Swanson, president, to Marcella McGinnis; Ruth Peters, vice president to Donna Hilleary; Deloris Darnold, secretary, to Lillian Bulleri; Dorothe Kernen, treasurer, to Helen Gardner; Mary Hendrickson and Bernice Anderson, service chairmen, to Virginia Hausen and Irma Means; Kathleen Smith retains her position as Finance Chairman; Kathleen Cordes and Ardis Froyd, program chairmen, to Evelyn Hill and Norma Query; Valora Robinson, publicity chairman, to Deloris Darnold; Audrea Larson, director of music and devotions, to Ruth Phillips; Maxine Stackhouse, social chairman, to Marjorie Stroud. Miss Marjorie Stillians is the Girl Reserve sponsor.

The program committee presented each senior girl with a corsage of lilies of the valley.

Miss Irene Beavers, a former member of the club, gave a very lovely speech in which she compared the girls in the organization to a telephone operator.

Miss Stillians gave a very touching farewell address, then presented rings to 18 senior girls for their work in the club. The girls who received rings were: Luella Swanson, Marie Stalder, Valora Robinson, Mary Hendrickson, Ethelean Reynolds, Ardis Froyd, Kathleen Cordes, Ruth Peters, Bernice Anderson, Maxine Stackhouse, Grace Straight, Dorothe Kernen, Audrea Larson, Jean King, Neva Given, Genevieve Given, Jean Wolfe and Laura Mae Focht.

The meeting was closed by singing "Taps."

SENIOR'S SNEAK TO OMAHA

On Wednesday, April 28, the seniors skipped away to Omaha for a day of fun. Six cars transported the group to Council Bluffs and from there they walked to Omaha.

The day was spent in various ways. Some went to see Boys' Town, some saw exhibits of Golden Spike days, some visited the stock yards and airport, some went to the picture show—every minute was full of excitement and fun and when the group met at six o'clock, a group of weary, but happy seniors were ready to come home.

Some of the boys had purchased green ten gallon hats and red kerchiefs, with these they tried to bring the west into V. H. S. the next day.

We've heard that some continued through Villisca on to Clarinda to skate. They felt more exercise was necessary to make the day complete.

CLASS WILL

To whom it may concern:

We, the seniors of V. H. S., this May 26, 1939, do bequeath the following:

Bob King wills his size and good looks to Elmer Simpson. Elmer came out lucky this year as Laura Mae Focht also wished to will him her ability to speed. Jean King wills her blond curls to Bill Wallace, while Mary Hendrickson decided to favor Lillian Bulleri with hers. The catch in this proposition is that with the hair also goes Mary's ability to fall down.

Bernice Anderson wills her

"french" accent to Lester Reynolds, while Clarence McIntosh wills his brain capacity to Moons McCoy. Neva Given wills her giggles to Don Tyler, who we have been told, could use a few. Her sister, Genevieve Givens, has relented and consented to will Ozzie to the school in general. Ardis Froyd wills her long tresses to Eam McMahon. Tom Focht wills his drawl and "sunny" disposition to Mervin Nelson.

Jimmie Johnson became quite stubborn, went into a tantrum, and declared he would leave nothing. Vera Henry decided the best she could do under the circumstances was to will Jimmie back to Millie. Wayne Smith and Bernice Darnold went together to will their basketball ability to the hamburgers who, we have been told, could use a little of it.

Now, one of those dark secrets is that Maxine Stackhouse found Mary's shoe, the one she lost "skip day," and has been saving it for a rainy day. With the coming of graduation, however, she decided to make a clean breast of it and will it back to Mary—besides it was two sizes too large.

Donald Osborne wills that last spurt of speed before the tardy bell to Gerry Wesen. June Crabtree wills her midnight rides to Barbara Burton who must use them jointly with John Ridnour. Dorothy Kernen wills her "way with the Nodaway men" to Ardis Froyd, who has a way of her own, and Grace Findley wills her way with the Red Oakians to Marilyn Focht.

Ethel Kinnersley wills her violin to Bob Peckham. We hope he will not consider this a slam on his trombone ability! Yale Werner wishes to will his place in the hall to Don Tyler and Barbara Wheeler, but we all they have made a place of their own. Maravene McCoy claims she has been willed heights for the last three years, and now is only glad to bequeath it to Barbara Wheeler. With this also goes Maravene's ability to dress.

Genevieve Nelson wills her football queenship to Donald Means, and we are sure there won't be a cutter queen in the district. Bob Neal wills his track ability to Mary Jane White. Ruth Peters wills her all around good sportsmanship to Jean Hausen, while Ethelean Reynolds wills her new watch to Donald Patton. Mrs. Hilleary will certainly appreciate this.

Valora Robinson wills her shorthand ability to Warren Culver. We tried to get Earl Schenck to will Ginny, but as that was impossible, he will his football ability to Olin Lovig. Marie Stalder wills her ability to teach school to Lois Hammel. Grace Straight wills her complexion to Ruth Phillips, but the authors think Ruth does fairly well with her own.

Jean Wolfe tried to will Lester Bull to the school, but when Dot Williams heard of it, he immediately put his foot down. Virginia Wigg wills her diamond to Kathleen Smith. Doris Vogel wills her commercial ability to Donna Hilleary. Opal Archer wills her bashfulness to Charles Coy, while Marjorie Antisdal wills her quietness to John Ridnour. Ruth Fleener wills her quiet manner to John Smith. Kathleen Cordes wills her pep to Jack Cooney.

There were several people willed. Homer Bangston wills Marilyn Focht to Ed Fisher. Harold White wills Ruth Alice Stinemates to Sheldon Devine. Audrea Larson wills Kenny to Helen Gardner, but do be careful, Helen, as Kenny may have something to say about this. Buck Overman leaves Lillian to Joe English.

And last but not least, our class president, Lester Bull, leaves everything to Bob Peckham. Lester claims that when Bob gets everything our president leaves him and puts it with everything he has—oh boy!

EIGHTH GRADE PARTY CENTERS AROUND DUTCH THEME

Members of the eighth grade class held their annual party on Friday, May 8, in the music room and gymnasium. After assembling in the music room, which was decorated in a Dutch theme, the class proceeded to the gymnasium where games were played until 9:30. The entire group was divided into families: North America, South America, Africa and Europe. Various contests were held. South America and Africa were the winning families.

Ice cream, cake, and cokes were served in the music room. After singing the class song, and giving their yell, the party decided that an eventful evening never to be forgotten, had slipped away.

Chairman of the entertainment committee was Ruth Ella Freeman. The refreshment and decoration committees were headed by Nadine Artlip and Mary Moore. Chairman of the song committee was Patty Pennington; the motto, Martha Lewis, color and flowers, Carol McKee; veil, Beth McCoy.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

Taken from the Volcano Files
Of 1953

Last night the alumni banquet was an outstanding success and doubly so for the "39ers". Every member of that graduating class was present.

Mrs. Earl Schenck, the former Miss Genny Nelson, was in charge of the entertainment because she resides near Villisca with her husband who is a very prosperous farmer. We thought for a while Lester Bull wouldn't be able to break away from his newspaper work in Des Moines but he was prompted by the special invitation of Miss Jean Wolfe, the head librarian of the Villisca Library.

The former Marie Stalder and Jean King drove over from near Brooks to be with their graduating class but could not bring their husbands with them as they didn't graduate from Villisca High.

Buck Overman, head of the Overman Construction company was at the dinner, having just returned from building a bridge over the Mississippi river near St. Louis.

Mrs. Dale Moser, June Crabtree to you, was there with her husband, who formerly attended V. H. S.

Mr. Jimmie Johnson was there from his laboratory in Williamsburg, Virginia. He had just invented a mousetrap that catches two mice at once.

Mr. Wayne Smith, basketball coach at I. S. T. C. was in attendance in his highest glory. His team is just back from the basketball tournament with the cup for winning the Big Ten Conference.

Mr. Homer Bangston, Secretary of Commerce, arrived with his wife, the former Eva Mae Agee. Mrs. Bangston was at one time a student in V. H. S.

Miss Vera Henry, dancing sensation from Hollywood, Calif., just arrived by plane after finishing her latest picture with Freddie Bartholomew.

The Diary of the Class
Of 1939 Including
Verbal Snapshots

September to May, 1927-1928:

Kindergarten and First Grade.

Our teacher was Miss Helen Phillips. The first party we had was of September 13, when Clarence McIntosh brought two peaches apiece to celebrate his birthday. Our class picnic was a grand affair. We came to school with our lunches and went to the southeast corner of the playground after school to eat. Because we went to the first kindergarten, there was no first grade for the first semester so about half of us were sent up into the first grade at the end of the first semester.

For the first grade, Miss Louise Bunnell was our teacher. We learned to write.

September to May, 1928-1929:

Second grade.

Bernard Darnold, Wayne Smith, Violet Gray, and Robert Neal entered second grade this year. Bernard had the distinction of making three grades in one day, fourth, third and second. The reason was that he could not make plain to Miss Howard, principal, which grade he attended in the country school.

Jean Wolfe's birthday party created the big sensation of the year. Her mother made for Jean a big cake in the shape of a house. All the boys fought over the chimney. Miss Stubbs was our teacher.

September to May, 1929-1930:

Third Grade.

Miss Virginia Kehr was our teacher. Grace Straight made her entry into the picture during this year. The important pictures during this year were the mud fights with Clarence McIntosh and Wilma Sanders heaving their balls against Anita Bixler's, Robert Neal's and Jean Wolfe's. Also Wayne Smith's dog was shot eight times and then lived.

September to May, 1930-1931:

Fourth Grade.

Miss Flossie Miller was our teacher. This year we started in on geography. The entire class started drawing this year because it did not want to be outdone by their fellow classmate Louise Lawson. Ethel Reynolds entered during the year. Ardis Froyd took an arithmetic examination and then found that she wasn't supposed to.

September to May, 1931-1932:

Fifth Grade.

This year we had three teachers, Miss O'Dell, Miss Rutan and Miss Howard. Audrea Larson entered school. The highlight of the year was the Christmas play. Wayne

Smith and Audrea were the "stars," and he had trouble in keeping himself from repeat lines more than once.

September to May, 1932-1933:

Sixth Grade.

We had the same teachers as the year before. The big event was our graduating from the Lincoln building.

September to May, 1933-1934:

Seventh Grade.

Miss Peterson, Miss Enarson, and Mrs. Williams were our teachers. On warm days the teachers would let us go out and go around the block to cool off. We started the dreaded literature series. Bernard Overman furnished the most humorous picture of the year. When asked by Miss Peterson the kinds of nouns, he replied, "Abstract and cement."

September to May, 1934-1935:

Eighth Grade.

We had the same teachers. Tom Focht, Earl Schenck, Harold White, Kathleen Cordes, June Crabtree, Dorothe Kernen, Maravene McCoy and Luella Swanson entered this year. The big event was the eighth grade class party held at McIntosh's. Officers elected were: Clarence McIntosh, pres.;

THE DIARY OF THE CLASS OF 1939 INCLUDING VERBAL SNAPSHOTS

Luella Swanson, vice pres.; Eva Mae Agee, secy.; Boyd Edwards, treas. Our colors were red and white.

September to May, 1935-1936: Freshman Year.

We moved ourselves into the high school picture. Here we were freshies and as green as they come, we guess. Bernice Anderson, Opal Archer, Homer Bangston, Grace Findley, Ruth Fleener, Laura Focht, Geneva Givan, Neva Givan, Mary Henderickson, Ethel Kinnersley, Robert King, Robert Neal, Yale Werner, Valora Robinson, Maxine Stackhouse, and Marie Stalder joined us this year. We held our class picnic at Tenville with plenty of snakes for entertainment.

September to May, 1936-1937: Sophomore Year.

Jean King and Virginia Wigg entered this year. This year we felt slightly better fitted to the high school than our freshman year. Pug Schenck won his football letter and the second team won the Hawkeye Six Championship in basketball. The class party was held on Saturday night in the gymnasium.

September to May, 1937-1938: Junior Year.

Margie Antisdell, Genevieve Nelson and Doris Vogel came to join us this year. Many interesting things happened during this year but it is hard to get them all into pictures. Of course we had a class picnic at the Rifle Range, and we had a party. The basketball boys presented a most pleasing picture by winning the title for the first time. Our class play was a grand success and we had a very good time getting ready for and going to our annual Junior-Senior Banquet. Earl Schenck was our class president.

September to May, 1938-1939: Seniors.

We finally reached the end of the ladder to be high and mighty seniors, or are we? We've had a grand school life, anyway, Jimmie Johnson entered this year. Lester Bull is our class president. Wayne Smith our vice president, Tom Focht, treasurer, Doroth Kern, secretary. We are going to have a class play, "Tiger House" and another Junior-Senior Banquet and this time we are going as guests. Those who have gone all through the grades from kindergarten throughout the senior year are few. They are Lester Bull, Clarence McIntosh, Donald Osborn, Bernard Overman, Ardis Froyd, Vera Henry, Ruth Peters, and Jean Wolfe.

DECLAMATORY WINNERS RECEIVE JOSTEN MEDALS

This year Josten Awards were presented to the three contestants who placed first in each class in the declamatory contest. Those receiving them were Bob Peckham in the humorous group, Clarence McIntosh in the oratorical section, and Audrea Larson in the dramatic division. All the students who placed either first or second in their class were awarded letters or bars. They were Bob Peckham, Helen Gardner, Lowell Stamps, Clarence McIntosh, Audrea Larson, and Marcella McGinnis. All who went out for declamatory work receive on-fourth of an academic credit.

JUNIORS WERE "LOOKIN' LOVELY" IN CLASS PLAY

About three hundred persons witnessed the three-act comedy, "Lookin' Lovely," presented by the Junior class at the Rialto Theatre, Tuesday, April 25. The director of the play was Miss Larson and the stage committee was Donna Hilleary, Donald Patton, Ed Fisher, and Kathleen Smith.

Winnie Bordine's father had died and left her the farm and also a mortgage. Buddie and Clytie, her small brother and sister, and Persimmon, the colored mammy, made up the family. In order to make some money for the family, Buddie and Clytie water the road that was full of holes, and made it muddy. They charge the people fifty cents to pull them out.

Mr. Hastings made an offer through Speed Hawkins, the sheriff, to buy the farm. Winnie is about to sell when her friend Jennie Mathews arrives. About that time Bill Baker and Jim Dugan get stuck in the mud. They discover something wonderful in the mud and decide to give mud facials. Jennie brings her friends Moe Dubrowske and "Cholly" Longacre down for the summer.

Bill is accused of raising a check from $400 to $4,000 and is arrested by Speed Hawkins. Moe works on the case and finally clears Bill's name. Mr. Hastings was the one who raised the check. His daughter, Esther, had been very snooty to Winnie since her father had become rich. When she found out what her father had done she wanted to be friends with Winnie again.

Speed Hawkins catches Miss Amarilla, whom he had been after for several years. Everything was "Lookin' Lovely."

Now, the time has come when we can't depend on these boys any more, so we congratulate them. These nine boys are:
